

GOV. SMALL LOSES APPEAL TO ILL. SUPREME COURT

Prosecution of John Looney is Nearing End

WITNESSES TELL STORY OF MURDER

State Will Close Its Case With Evidence of Negro Lieut.

Galesburg, Ill., Dec. 16—(AP)—Testimony of witnesses of the William Gabel shooting was heard this morning in the trial here of John Looney, charged with Gabel's murder. Emeal Davis, alleged henchman of Looney, will testify this afternoon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thorpe, 2309 Fourth Avenue, Rock Island, who lives opposite the saloon which was operated by Gabel, testified that on the night of July 21, 1922, she saw two men get out of a car which had stopped in front of her house, and walk towards Gabel's saloon. She heard shots shortly afterward, and as she went to the front porch, she testified, she saw the two men hurriedly returning to the car, which was quickly driven away.

"I could not tell who the men were," she said, "there was a man standing in front of the saloon when I went to the porch, but I could not recognize him. The shooting occurred about 12 o'clock. There were four other men in the car."

Watchman Saw Car.

W. B. Money-maker, of Rock Island, told the court that at the time of the shooting, he was a watchman at the R. J. Garment Company near the scene of the murder. Shortly after 12 o'clock, he testified, he heard the shooting, and went to a second story window to see where it was. As he looked out of the window, he said, he saw a car which was parked across the street from Gabel's saloon being driven away.

Frank Strandburg, of Moline, watchman at a furniture factory at the corner of 4th Avenue and 23rd Street, scene of the shooting, said that at about 12 o'clock he was sitting on a porch facing Gabel's saloon. A car passed, he said, turned and stopped opposite the saloon.

Two men got out of the car, he testified, and walked towards Gabel's place. As they reached the other side of the street, he said, he saw gun fire flashes from a car which was parked in front of the saloon, and immediately afterward the two men returned to their car. Both cars were then driven away he said, in opposite directions.

On cross examination he testified that the men walked slowly across the street when they returned to their car.

All Carried Guns.

Earl Shannon, motorcycle policeman of Rock Island, testified that in May of 1922 Looney had said in the police station, "we all carry guns, and we are going to continue to do so. I don't want to be bothered by none of you."

Looney made the statement, Shannon testified, after Emeal Davis, negro, alleged henchman of Looney and former operator of a Rock Island "black and tan," had been arrested for speeding by Rock Island police. Davis was at that time carrying a gun, Shannon said.

O. O. Askrén, attorney for the defense, recalled Lawrence Pedigo, witness for the state who is also under indictment for murder, at the close of this morning's session and asked him, "Did you or did you not go to Fred Sinclair last May and say to him, 'You go to Mrs. Hamilton, (Looney's daughter) and tell her that the state has offered me a good deal for testifying against Looney. If Looney will give me $8,000 I won't. I can frame up Looney and Ginnena for Ginnena is dead and I can make Davis tell anything?'"

Pedigo denied having had the conversation.

Davis will be called to the witness stand at 2 o'clock this afternoon and the state expects his testimony to help in gaining conviction of Looney. Davis is said to have been a friend of Looney and intimately acquainted with the underworld operations in Rock Island at the time of the shooting.

The state will finish its case with Davis' testimony, Charles W. Hadley, assistant attorney general in charge of the prosecution, said this morning.

"Fly Away Birdies" is Favorite Song Capital's Firemen

Washington, Dec. 16—(AP)—Hundreds of starlings and sparrows have taken possession of trees along Pennsylvania Avenue until they became a house nuisance. Firemen were detailed to dislodge them and were informed by the Department of Agriculture experts that the better time would be the twilight hour.

When streams of water were sent through the branches the birds retreated with raucous cries, only to return the following night and now the firemen are wondering how long it will take to drive the birds from their roosting place.

CHRISTMAS FUND LESS THAN HALF IT WAS IN 1924

Prompt Response Will Enable Club to Give Poor Happiness

Maybe you've some little folks of your own at home. You are planning now to make them happy Christmas morning. You are anxious to see that all their requests of Santa Claus are gratified and you are anticipating that glad morn, so soon to come, when they will scramble out of bed at daylight and run, breathless and starry-eyed to the stockings hung chimney and the gorgeous Christmas tree that loving hands have loaded down with many gifts. You know it will be a happy day for them. You'll see to it that it is and be thankful that you are alive and able to provide those things so necessary to childish joy at Christmas time.

But suppose you were not alive and suppose that adversity came to your bereft family. Real poverty, we mean. The kind of poverty that put them in a ramshackle shack where the cold creeps in through the cracks despite the fire in the little stove, and where the broken down beds have too little covering and the babies' tattered clothing is too thin to keep them warm. Where food is poor and scarce and shoes are worn through. No rubbers to keep those little feet dry. No mittens to cover those grimy, chapped little hands.

Do you know that there are lots of folks in just that condition? We can show them to you, right here in prosperous Dixon. Don't you think that if your family were in such circumstances that there ought to be some one in this community with a big enough heart to try to make them happy for at least one day?

Civic Clubs Will Aid

The Telegraph's Goodfellow club has been offered and has accepted the aid of four local organizations—the Gyro, Kiwanis, Lions and Toastmasters Clubs. Members of these organizations will help make investigation of appeals for aid and will also aid in the delivering of the Christmas boxes over the city on Christmas Eve. This help is very much appreciated because it makes it possible to cover the work with greater attention to detail and lighten the load for the few who have taken on the work in the past.

There is great need for more funds. Last year the Goodfellows of Dixon donated in the neighborhood of $800. The fund this year should be equally as large, but it is necessary that donations be made early so that we will be able to know the maximum aid that can be extended to the city's poor.

The Goodfellow fund now stands:

Dixon Evening Telegraph	$25.00
Margaret Kirshner	5.00

MANDAMUS TO REARREST IRA PERRY ISSUED

Supreme Court Acts as Gov. Small Denies Any Secrecy

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 16—(AP)—The supreme court this morning granted the petition for a writ of mandamus directing the rearrest and imprisonment of Ira D. Perry, Jr., who was released by the state division of pardons and paroles after his charge had been changed from "murder" which is unparolable to "manslaughter."

The writ was made returnable Feb. 2, the first day of the next term.

Authority of the Governor to change the designation of the offense for which a convict is serving sentence is challenged in the petition. It points out that Perry was found guilty of murder and was serving sentence for it. If his sentence were commuted to a lesser term, the petition adds, he would still be serving sentence for the original crime under the law. However, murder is not subject to commutation.

The Director of Public Welfare, the five members of the Division of Pardons and Paroles and the Superintendent of the Illinois State Penitentiary are named as respondents, directed to file their answer by Feb. 2.

Small Answers Tribune

Emphatic denial that there was any secrecy about the commutation of sentence given Jerry was given by Governor Len Small in a letter made public here today.

It was addressed to Secretary H. C. Stern of the Illinois Retail Jewellers Association, in answer to a letter of Dec. 10, in which Stern condemned the state's parole policy.

"This was not a secret commutation," the Governor's answer said, "as stated in the Chicago Tribune. The Chicago Tribune knew on the first day of July that this man's sentence had been commuted to manslaughter. It was a public act and was filed in the office of the Secretary of State as a part of the public records open to public inspection."

Reported to Police

"On Sept. 11, the secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association circularized the state referring among others, to action on behalf of Perry. Perry's parole as well as all others was reported to the Chicago police department despite newspaper reports to the contrary."

"From all this publicity, running for nearly six months, no protest reached me against this commutation of sentence and I had every reason to believe that the representations made in Perry's behalf were true and genuine and that no state official or agency was influenced by ulterior motives or money considerations. In fact my information is that Perry's father, instead of being a millionaire, is a bankrupt."

"Present criminal conditions are most deplorable and I have constantly and conscientiously endeavored to perform my duties with respect to the penal situation. At the present time there are perhaps fifty percent more prisoners in our penal institutions than when I took office, and notwithstanding the great increase, the number of persons who have received pardons or commutations of sentence at my hands is a smaller percent than that for any previous governor for the last 60 years."

Hoffman, Westbrook, et al, Face Trial on Those Charges

Chicago, Dec. 16—(AP)—Sheriff Peter Hoffman, Wesley Westbrook, former county jail warden; five former jail officials and Terry Drugan and Frankie Lake, face trial on charges growing out of liberties allowed Drugan and Lake while serving jail terms as beer runners.

The nine were charged in one count with conspiracy to obstruct justice. Westbrook was charged in addition with having accepted a bribe and in the third count Drugan and Lake were charged with giving bribes.

In the investigation of the county jail scandal, Drugan and Lake told of paying thousands of dollars for privileges, including scores of trips outside the jail to a dentist, to their homes and other places.

Bonds in each case were set at $3,000 by Federal Judge Wilkerson to whom the jury reported and who conducted the investigation. Trials will be started as soon as possible, the district attorney's office said.

Hoffman and Westbrook are under sentence to jail on charges of contempt of court as a result of Judge Wilkerson's investigation. The sentences will be entered December 21, when penalties will be imposed on the others, also cited for contempt.

PRESIDENT HAS LEAGUE'S BID; IS UNDECIDED

Awaits State Department Study of Situation

Washington, Dec. 16—(AP)—President Coolidge is deferring consideration of the invitation from the League of Nations for American participation in the Geneva arms limitation conference, pending a complete study by the state department of the project.

Meanwhile, such information as has been published from Geneva has served to lay stress on the fact that the commission to which the Washington government has been asked to assign delegates is purely one of inquiry, to discover what armament questions could be taken up in an international conference with reasonable hope that limiting agreements could be negotiated.

Some significance as indicating the probable attitude of the state department, is attached to Secretary Kellogg's speech Monday night, in New York, in which he declared that the Washington government would go to the limit in cooperating for the rehabilitation of Europe so long as it did not become involved in its political tangles and military alliances.

Attempting to disarm him, another son William, Jr., 17, ran in with another pistol and fired at the policemen. One of them returned the shots and the youth dropped. He died on the way to a hospital.

MITCHELL IS UNFIT, SAID JNO. W. WEEKS

Former War Secretary's Letter Read to Court Today

Washington, Dec. 16—(AP)—A letter written by John W. Weeks as Secretary of War, describing Col. William Mitchell as "lawless," unfit for high administrative position and possessed of a desire for publicity at the expense of others, was presented in evidence today at the Mitchell court martial.

Writing to President Coolidge, the then Secretary gave these as his reasons for refusing to recommend that Mitchell be reappointed assistant chief of the army air service with the rank of Brig. General.

The letter was presented to the court by Major General D. E. Nolan, assistant chief of staff, the last prosecution witness in the trial of the air officer on charges resulting from his public attacks on the government aviation policies. It gave for the first time the war department's side of the story of Mitchell's transfer last spring from Washington to an army post in Texas.

The Secretary said he wrote the letter "with great regret because he is a gallant officer with an excellent war record, but," he added, "his record since the war has been such that he has forfeited the good opinion of those who are familiar with the facts, and who desire to promote the best interests of national defense."

REPORTERS HOPE MILLICENT WILL BREAK SILENCE

Has Had Nothing to Say Regarding Her Hubby's Fight

West Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 16—(AP)—Reporters here today were hoping that Countess Von Hoogstraeten would tire of playing tag with them and break her silence, which she has threatened to do on several occasions. In each instance, however, the former Millicent Rogers, heiress to a $40,000,000 fortune, changed her mind at the last minute, and sent word "that she had nothing to say."

The countess was living quietly at Walkhill Cottage at Palm Beach until the arrival of the Count, her husband and her mother from Europe. The Count began his New York-Palm Beach warfare to gain control of their son by issuing daily statements and then started legal proceedings.

The climax arrived Monday morning when private detectives employed by her to prevent the kidnapping of her baby used pistols to repel intruders on her property. The intruders turned out to be other private detectives who claimed they were in the employ of the Count to watch the Countess' home. A similar episode almost occurred Monday night when the Countess' detectives rushed the Count's men in some bushes across the street.

CORN EXHIBIT AT HIGH SCHOOL TO CLOSE FRIDAY EVE.

About Fifty Entrants from County Have Corn Displayed

Much interest is being taken in the corn show at the high school, where more than 50 exhibits have already been received from various parts of the county. The show will terminate Friday evening, Dec. 18 with a program at the south side high school to which the public is most cordially invited. A very interesting program has been arranged, to start promptly at 7:30. Musical numbers and talks by members of the agricultural class, who recently attended the International live stock show at Chicago and made a tour of investigation of the packing plants, will be features of the program.

The speaker of the evening will be J. H. Roberts of DeKalb county, soil advisor of DeKalb county. He will judge the samples on exhibition and award the prizes. Mr. Roberts recently conducted a similar exhibit in the DeKalb schools which brought forth 200 samples, and at which time it developed that the corn crop outlook in DeKalb county, was very unfavorable.

A number of the samples in the show are being tested for germination and vitality. These tests will be completed and ready for observation and inspection Friday evening so that those attending and who are interested may observe just how serious the seed corn situation for next year appears to be in Lee county.

Charles E. Keyes has offered liberal prizes in cash to be awarded to the winners in the various classes of the exhibit, in order that the students of the high school may become interested in the development of a better grade of seed corn in Lee county.

DECISION IN CIVIL CASES IS RENDERED

Highest Court Holds He Must Account for Interest

BULLETIN.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 16—(AP)—Len Small, governor of Illinois today lost his appeal in the state supreme court and was directed to account for approximately one million dollars, alleged withheld by him while state treasurer.

The court was divided. Two justices, Duncan and Heard dissented, making it a 5 to 2 opinion.

Tried and acquitted in Lake County of criminal charges of embezzlement and conspiracy in 1922, the Governor, by today's decision was sent back to the same Sangamon County circuit court, that indicted him, for a definite accounting in chancery.

Today's decision holds him guilty of depositing state moneys as state treasurer in the fictitious "Grant Park Bank" of the late Senator Edward C. Curtis and son, at two percent and later splitting the profits accruing from re-loans at five and eight percent.

Had Criminal Trial.

Indicted in Sangamon county, he went to Lake County for the criminal trial on a change of venue. While that trial was in process, the civil suit was filed November 26, 1921. Several civil suits were filed naming the Governor and other former state treasurers, Lieut. Governor Fred E. Sterling, Andrew Russell, William Ryan, Jr., and Edward E. Mitchell, but that against Small was the only one pushed.

Evidence against him was virtually the same as used by the prosecution in the trial at Waukegan, based on alleged irregularities which former State Treasurer Edward E. Miller discovered when taking office. Miller had communicated with Edward E. Brundage, then attorney general and Small's political enemy. Indictments followed, then the change of venue to Lake county and the three weeks trial, which drew country-wide attention.

The jury took only a few minutes to decide the Governor "not guilty." The victory was marred by the death of his wife shortly after, and then by charges of jury bribing in the Boyle-Newmark case.

These two men were sentenced to jail for contempt of court when they refused to testify against themselves, and in the next move the Governor pardoned them. The supreme court upheld the pardons.

Headings Before Mastern.

Headings in the civil suit were mostly before Masters in Chancery, here and in Chicago. They dragged intermittently for months. Three county judges here had charge of them. First Judge E. S. Smith, a republican, who rebuked the Governor in court one day for his unnecessary appearance; then Judge Norman L. Jones, a democrat, who left the case to oppose the Governor for re-election and lastly, Judge Frank Burton, republican.

RESOLUTIONS

By Hal Cochran.

When you stop and consider, aren't all of us queer, and don't we do things that are odd? We make resolutions to start off each year, so's to better the pathway we've trod.

It's close to the time when the year
'twenty-five is preparing to bid us adieu. And all of us feel that when new years arrive we must start down the roadway anew.

We used to do this and we used to do that, but we won't in the year
'twenty-six. With new resolutions we'll step up to bat, which is one of our old-fashioned tricks.

Our fine resolutions are really the bunk, and we know it when ever we make 'em. The very first thing they have fallen kerplunk, 'cause it's always too easy to break 'em.

The truth of the matter, in leaves
that you turn, if you really believe that they'll pay, is not to resolve on the first of the year, but to start out and do them today.

Menus for the Family

Breakfast

Baked winter pears, cereal cooked with dates; thin cream, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon

Tomato bouillon, rice salad, brown butter, molasses cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner

Fruit cocktails, salmon loaf with creamed peas, potatoes in parsley butter, curly endive with bacon dressing, gingerbread with whipped cream, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

Very often at this time of year the cook finds herself with odds and ends of fruit both canned and fresh.
These can be used to advantage in fruit cocktails at the beginning of dinner. In combining the fruits apply the principle of two tart fruits and one mild one—it's possible. Or marinate the fruits in tart orange juice or lemon juice.

This luncheon salad is rather out of the ordinary and quite hearty.

Rice Salad

One and one-half cups cold cooked rice, 12 large prunes, 2 oranges, 4 tablespoons French dressing, 1-2 cup mayonnaise, lettuce.

The rice should be carefully cooked, each kernel light and puffy and the whole mass dry and fluffy. Wash prunes and let stand in cold water three or four hours. Steam until plump but not broken or mushy.

Remove stones and cut in neat quarters. Pour over French dressing and let stand one hour. Combine rice with mayonnaise and fold in prepared prunes. Peel oranges and remove sections from the covering membrane. Put a mound of rice mixture on a bed of lettuce and surround with sections of orange and serve.

Our fine resolutions are really the bunk, and we know it when ever we make 'em. The very first thing they have fallen kerplunk, 'cause it's always too easy to break 'em.

The truth of the matter, in leaves
that you turn, if you really believe that they'll pay, is not to resolve on

and do them today.

FRENCH "AGIN" TAXATION.

It is predicted that the latest Briand ministry in France will fall by the end of this week. It is doubtful if any ministry can satisfy the people of France, and some of the big newspapers are suggesting that a dictator seize the reins of government before the collapse of the present regime.

When a man like Loecheur as finance minister proposes increase of taxation, then he is at once "in bad" with the whole people. It is charged that there is a lot of tax dodging in this country, but the fact seems to be that it is but a trifle in comparison with French tax dodging. Very few people over there have bank accounts or use checks — the fear of the government would get information that would bring increase in the amount of taxes charged against them. It is said that if a Frenchman refuses to give information on which to base his income tax, the government has no recourse under the law. It does find out what rent he pays, then taxes him on a basis of seven times that rent. The average Frenchman thus evades at least half to two-thirds of his tax.

The debt to the United States and to England is regarded as a "dead horse," and the desire to evade payment of it is almost unanimous with potential taxpayers. This is a picture that would suggest a great lack of patriotism or national pride in France. Men are elected to office not to put the nation financially on its feet but to avoid paying the nation's debts. If any premier or finance minister has a contrary plan, one to pay the country's debts and thus pave the way to financial stability, then his head is likely too to be under the political guillotine.

Even if a dictator should take hold, he would have to outdo Mussolini in order to redeem France from her plight.

TEETH FOR THE LEAGUE.

Great Britain has most opportunely changed front in regard to putting teeth in league of nations decisions. Sir Austen Chamberlain has agreed, in principle, to the Franco-Belgian proposition that league member nations shall send military and naval forces to make up a combined force to be used against any nation declining to accept a league decision. Britain has all along been declining to accept this proposition. But now that trouble with Turkey over Mosul seems imminent, Turkey declaring she will not accept the league verdict if against her, Britain has a change of heart. Thus Britain will secure aid in forcing Turkey to accept the league decision, which is quite sure to be in favor of Great Britain.

Thus the most powerful nation in the league, Great Britain, has put its o. k. on Article 10 of the league covenant, which was so strongly objected to in this country when the proposition that the United States should join the league was before the senate and the people of this country. The United States is well out of the league and it should and will stay out. With U. S. membership the league might well decide that a question of our inland policy might properly be referred to the league. Then with a decision against us, another world war would be practically inevitable, with the whole of Europe and part of South America joined against us.

SEEKS THE TREASURERSHIP.

Garrett De Forest Kinney, of Peoria, has made official announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for State Treasurer at the primary to be held next April. Several other aspirants for the honor are already in the field.

Mr. Kinney has been actively identified with Republican politics in Illinois for many years and is well known to party leaders throughout the state. He has been a member of the Republican state committee for 18 years and was chairman of that body in 1913-14, directing the campaign that elected Lawrence Y. Sherman to the United States senate. He is now chairman of the Peoria Republican county committee. In fact, Mr. Kinney has carried wood and water for the G. O. P., and its nominees for a long time and is well entitled to aspire to the important state office which he seeks. He has long been a close political and personal friend of Senator Deenen and also enjoys the warm friendship of many other party leaders.

Mr. Kinney's candidacy will be strengthened by the fact that he is a successful business man, being president and general manager of the Cutler & Proctor Stove company, president of the Metal Barrel corporation and a director of the Commercial National bank, of Peoria. His friends are using the argument that Peoria county, one of the greatest counties in the state, never has had a representative on the state ticket. Mr. Kinney's candidacy is generally regarded as the strongest entry thus far in the Treasurership race. — Rockford Register-Gazette.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 3—INCH O' PIE AND THE BLUE GEESE

On went the two geese, onward and upward.

Nancy and Nick hastily dressed and slipped on the magic shoes that Inch o' Pie had brought with him. Then the little elf told them to sit down on the two big fat blue geese he had ridden in through the window.

Nancy sat on Ganz and Nick sat on Ole, for these you know, were the names of the geese, and as soon as they were settled, Inch o' Pie jumped in from of them, with a foot on each goose's neck. Then gathering up the glittering reins, and cracking his tiny holly-branch whip, away they all went right out through the open window toward the sky.

"I hear the trees cracking," said Mrs. Walton. "There is going to be a hard frost tonight." But it was only Inch o' Pie's whip. "And I hear a peculiar blissing around which means that the wind is changing to the north," said Mr. Walton.

But it was only Ole and Ganz hissing as they flew. They didn't have any idea that those two noises were their own children riding as hard as the could go toward the North Pole to help Santa Claus. For not fifteen minutes before, they had been in the room where the Twins slept, and fixed things for the night.

On went the two geese, onward and upward, flapping their wings with great slow flaps that seemed to carry them forward with great speed. You can swim very fast by moving your arms very slowly, and so it was with the geese. No aeroplane could have gone faster.

They passed the Big Dipper finally and were making straight for the North Star.

All about you are countless human beings battling more bravely, loving and hating more deeply, living in a finer grandeur of joy, triumph and self-sacrifice than the imagination of man could ever invent.

Their stories, stranger and vastly more interesting than fiction, because they are true, appear each month in True Story Magazine. Frankly and vividly told, these real-life narratives will hold you spell-bound. January True Story is now on the newsstands. Don't miss it!

POPE ORDAINED FOUR CARDINALS AT SECRET MEET

Special Ceremony Monday at Vatican of Great Import

Rome—(AP)—Four new cardinals were created at a secret consistory Monday. They were:

Monsignor Bonaventura Cerretti, apostolic nuncio in France.

Monsignor Enrico Gasparri, apostolic nuncio in Brazil.

Monsignor Patrick O'Donnell, archbishop of Armagh.

Monsignor Alessandro Verde, secretary of the congregation of Rites.

Cardinal Cerretti was auditor to the apostolic delegation at Washington for several years. He expects to visit the United States again in about six months, attending the Eucharistic congress at Chicago.

Cardinal Gasparri is a nephew of the papal secretary of state and has been in the papal diplomatic service for more than 25 years, most of this time being spent in Latin American countries.

Cardinal O'Donnell succeeded the late Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, and is one of the leading figures in the Irish episcopacy.

Cardinal Verde is one of the most learned ecclesiastics in the Roman congregations and is known particularly in connection with the beatification and canonization of Joan of Arc.

Important Ceremony
Monday's ceremony assumed a special importance because it preceded by less than a month the still more gorgeous ceremony which the Pope will close the Holy Year. It was held in the hall which takes its name from the consistory and was attended by all the cardinals residing in Rome.

The Pope, dressed entirely in white, wearing a gold pectoral cross and carrying his velvet hat, entered the hall on foot, preceded by the Swiss guard, accompanied by the noble guard, and followed by his military and ecclesiastical courts, while the choir sang.

After the Pope had seated himself on the throne, the master of ceremonies ordered the "extra omnes" and all except the Pope and Cardinals left the hall. The pontiff then offered a simple prayer and delivered a short allocution.

After this he proceeded to the creation of the new cardinals, asking for each one whether the members of the sacred college approved his choice. Each of the members, as he was asked, rose, bowed and lifted his red biretta, in sign of acquiescence. As soon as this ceremony was over, the Pontiff proclaimed the new cardinals.

The Pope also announced the appointment of several archbishops and bishops, most of them already had been nominated by brief.

NIGHT LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO JOHN PRES. COTT

Told mother over telephone yesterday that I would be home tomorrow. Last night Ruth fell down stairs and for twelve hours her life was despaired of. Doctors have succeeded in saving her, however, by a caesarian operation and they have great hopes of saving the baby also.

If you are not in great need of me, will stay here a few days longer. I think it would kill Ruth if her baby does not live and I fully sympathize with her; as you know what it meant to me when I found that because of that automobile accident, I had lost my great hope of a child at that time.

Everything is being done that is possible for Ruth and her baby. Walter, however, is like a madman. We have had to keep him absolutely away from his wife. This I seem to be better able to do than anyone else. That is why I am staying.

Ask Karl to write me his plans.

Night Letter From John Prescott to Leslie Prescott

Words cannot express my great sympathy for Ruth and Walter. Stay with them as long as they need you. I remember very well that Ruth came to you at that terrible time when our first baby was born dead and it was through her who counsel that little Jack was placed in your arms and that brought you back from the very gates of the Great Beyond.

Am getting along fine. Leg does not hurt me at all. Mother is out of town. Consequently Hannah is happy in her care of the children.

Tell Walter to keep a stiff upper lip. Everything will be all right in the end. Am selfish enough, however, to hope Ruth will be well enough for you to be here before the shooting of the picture.

With all my love,

JACK.

Telegram From Mrs. John Graves Hamilton to Leslie Prescott

Please convey my sincere sympathy to dear Ruth, but tell her I am happy to know that things are not as bad as they might be. I am sure it will be all right now. Did you say Ruth's child was a girl? I hope so.

MOTHER.

McLEAN SAYS HE IS CONFIDENT IN IDEAS OF WOMEN

Former Dixonite, Film Star, Interviewed by Mrs. Parsons

Mrs. Louella O. Parsons, formerly of Dixon, now one of the foremost movie critics in the newspaper world, recently had the following in the New York City American, concerning Douglas MacLean, also formerly of Dixon, great film star. MacLean, in a letter to Dixon friends, recently received, said he had tried on many of his late trans-continental trips to arrange to stop over in Dixon, but had been prevented. However, he said he would continue to try until he could make Dixon, the city of his boyhood, a visit. Mrs. Parsons' story of an interview with him, is as follows:

"Women have a better intuitive comedy sense than men," said Douglas MacLean. "My wife knows better than I do what will get a laugh, and the wives of my business associates are far better judges of what will amuse the public than the men, who make laughter their business."

Mr. MacLean who is in New York on a holiday and incidentally in our city to be present at the opening of his picture, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," today at the Rivoli, made this statement over the tea table.

"What makes you so kind to my sex?"

"It is not kindness, it is the truth. Faith (Mrs. MacLean) suggested a title, 'Leave the Room.' Terrible, I said. No one would laugh at that."

"Terrible," echoed my business manager. "Nevertheless," insisted Mrs. MacLean, "it is funny."

"Do you think it is funny?" I asked my business manager's wife.

"Oh, very funny," she replied.

"Well, we left that title in the picture and that night when it was tried out in a neighborhood theater, the whole house laughed."

"Before that time I never paid any attention to my wife's suggestions. Now I listen to anything she has to offer, and five times out of six she is right."

Then Mr. MacLean explained to me, that he takes his comedy before it is out to some small theater and listens for the laughs. "We cut according to their verdict, and let me tell you," he said, "it is the most ghastly experience in the world to wait for laughs. Sometimes, I will

Stop That Backache!

Many Dixon Folks Have Found the Way.

Is a dull, nerve-racking backache wearing you out? Do you feel older and slower than you should? Are you tired, weak and nervous; find it impossible to be happy, or enjoy the good things around you? Then there's something wrong and likely it's your kidneys. Why not get at the cause? Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Your neighbors recommend Doan's. Read what this Dixon resident says:

Mrs. Smith, 113 Douglas Ave., Dixon, says: "My back ached and I had bearing down pains through the small of it. Dizzy spells came over me and specks came before my eyes, causing everything to get black before me. My kidneys acted too freely and I felt all out of sorts. A friend recommended Doan's Pills so I used a box from Sullivan's Drug Store. They fixed me up in fine shape."—Adv.

Saves Train

Thomas E. Clark of Detroit has invented an automatic radio control device for locomotives that, it is believed will make railway wrecks nearly impossible. The device flashes a red light in the cab if there is anything on the track, and if the engineer is disabled and cannot act it stops the locomotive automatically. Railway men are testing the device near Detroit and are enthusiastic about it.

do a bit that I think 100 per cent. It will be received in agonizing silence. Then again a runny face that has been forced on me and I believe will make my public want to turn the dogs on me, is received with appreciative chuckles.

"Comedy," Mr. MacLean went on, "is the most difficult and most aggravating taskmaster because you never know what will be regarded as funny and what will be looked upon as stupid."

I really owe Douglas MacLean a grudge, for out in my home town, Dixon, Illinois, I would be considered the most important person in the movies if it were not for him. You see, Douglas is a Dixon boy, that is, he lived there for some years when a lad, taking part in all the mischievous pranks in his home town. Every time I go to Dixon they say to me:

"Have you seen Douglas MacLean lately?"

I told him how eagerly they inquire after his health, his popularity and his success.

He laughed and said: "You have nothing on me. Every time I go to Dixon, the townspeople say, 'Of course you know Louella O. Parsons. That is the house she lived in.'"

Douglas told me something about his father, who is greatly beloved in Dixon. A Methodist minister with an outlook on life that was neither narrow nor disagreeable.

"What does he say about you being in pictures?"

"Surprising as it may sound, he loves the movies. You see it was Daniel Frohman who first gave me a chance on the stage. I wired dad and told him. He took the first train to New York to see me.

"Of course father," I said, "I will change my name."

"You will do nothing of the kind," he replied. "You are not going to bring any disgrace to the name. It is yours, why not use it?"

"You know," said Douglas, "ministers' boys are always considered a bad lot and no one in Dixon ever expected much of me. One year I made $100 in Chicago and went back to spend it and make a splurge. I lived all summer long and when I returned to Chicago I still had money in my pocket. Those were the days."

"Those were the days," I replied after him, recalling the assembly in Dixon where I as a youngster had spent many an hour and where he some years later had also listened to the lectures brought there by the various Chautauqua societies.

If Douglas has time he means to go back to Dixon and see all our old friends, among whom are the Shaws the people who own the only newspaper in Dixon, and he promises when he gets there to tell the home folks I am doing well, and I promised to do the same.

After all, whatever New York and the rest of the world think, we all ways want to have Dixon believe we are doing well.

New York—There's a good gag going around about a certain Broadway theatrical figure who, feeling ill, went to a specialist.

"Diabetes," soberly announced the physician.

"Doctor, is that an acid or a liability?" joked the theatrical man.

Much has been written about the mawkishness of New Yorkers when celebrities are about.

It used to be that crowds would gather at theater entrances, when important opening night attractions were under way, to gaze at stage notables and society women, to marvel at their clothes and to get a close-up view. This was more or less forgivable inasmuch as the Broadway belt is cluttered each night with people who have little else to do but wander about.

But this winter the situation inside the theaters has become acute. A considerable portion of first night audiences not only refuse to take their seats but line along the rear of the house and stare at each other—women in particular.

Recently an audience was not in its seats until nearly 20 minutes after the rise of the curtain, although most of them were in the house well before the curtain time.

So you can tell the boys at Podunk Center not to be afraid to be seen chewing a straw or craning necks—it's quite the style in New York this year.

No one would accuse a subway station of being particularly romantic. But now that it is either too cold or rainy for park benches the subway bench seems to be popular with spooners.

The other night I noticed three couples holding down benches in the dark, ill-smelling, noisy subway station. They had paid their two nickels to get in and had settled down to spend the evening. Trains roared in and out, crowds ebbed and flowed but this disturbed them not a bit.

Girls who like moonlight with their courting are advised to stay in Bingle Center.

—James W. Dean.

HER DIVINE RIGHT

Did You Ever Stop to Think—

BY E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla. Board of Commerce

THAT continuous advertising is the key to continuous profits. THAT the business building value of advertising is an established fact, but its pulling power is governed by the way it is used.

THAT continuous advertising has won the confidence of the public and they have become accustomed to buying from dealers who tell about their wares or service through the printed page, not once in a while but all the while.

THAT continuous advertising indicates superior quality and gives uninterrupted service to both buyer and seller.

THAT the use of the service of advertising is increasing because it has grown constantly more dependable and more capable of meeting all demands made upon it.

MODERN DEALERS MUST USE THE KIND OF ADVERTISING THAT SERVES THEM BEST. AD-

ANNUAL REPORT OGLE CO. FARM ADVISED GIVEN

Shows Great Activity in Bureau During the Closing Year

The Ogle County Farm Adviser's report for the year ending Nov. 31, 1925 gives a brief synopsis of the many projects conducted during the year and some definite results accomplished by them.

The County was organized by communities, each with its local leaders for carrying out the projects selected by each group. Fifty-eight local leaders assisted in directing the project work in thirteen communities of the county.

Twenty-five community meetings were held with a total attendance of 2255. With 53 demonstration meetings, 42 leaders meetings and 17 miscellaneous meetings; there was a total of 167 meetings held through which Farm Bureau service reached a total attendance of 7839.

Hog sanitation demonstrations were carried on with the assistance of 10 cooperators who exhibited on their farms the results of the sanitation system of raising pigs. Greater profits were realized by all of these farmers because of the use of this system.

The improvement of corn by seed selection was demonstrated by definite results obtained on 26 farms where plots were planted with selected seed to compare with the ordinary seed. It was shown that one bushel of selected seed corn would produce an increased yield sufficient to pay a year's dues in the County Farm Bureau, Illinois Agricultural Association and American Farm Bureau Federation.

Estimates made by leaders in the limestone and legumes project showed that the yearly use of limestone had increased 100 percent, of alfalfa 50 percent and of sweet clover 25 percent from a year ago.

Other projects upon which results were reported are: farm accounting, poultry management, orchard management, boys and girls club work, hog vaccination, live stock marketing, county fair exhibit, county picnic, T. B. eradication, "The Ogle County Farmer", cow testing association, purchasing supplies, limestone, phosphate and seeds, insect control, Farmers' Institute, farm visits, and administration.

tion and its affiliated state and local organizations are financed almost entirely through the annual sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals. Thus the public is enabled to support a movement designed solely to promote its health and welfare.

INSTITUTIONS. The minimum institutional requirement for tuberculosis is one bed for every annual death. This means the United States needs at least 104,000 beds. There are about 799 sanatoria and hospitals with over 66,000 beds for tuberculosis patients in the United States. In 1924 there were only 100 hospitals and sanatoria with about 10,000 beds.

NURSES. At least one general public health nurse is necessary to care for 3,000 persons. It is impossible to separate tuberculosis from a general health program, but nurses trained in tuberculosis work are necessary, as well as the general public health nurses. It has been estimated that there are over 3,500 specially trained tuberculosis nurses and several thousand others who are doing tuberculosis work in the United States.

RE-DISCOVERING ILLINOIS

By LESTER B. CROSBY

Illinois Chamber of Commerce

We come to Galesburg. There is a familiar trade name, branding a railroad, the "Burlington Route." Had those who burned that name deep in the nation's industry foreseen clearly—that system, doubtlessly to-day would be called the "Galesburg Route" instead. To the glory of an Illinois city!

Galesburg is the hub of the Burlington and the railroad, by all odds, is the most important industrial unit in Galesburg. But Galesburg has other things—

When you start out to know your Illinois you must learn of the educational institutions, the manufacturing plants and all the other factors which have built up a city of 28,207 persons on the very ridge of that broad rift between the Illinois and Mississippi rivers. But, first of all, it's a story of railroads; transportation.

The Burlington road radiates in six directions from Galesburg. From these lines tracks branch off, like twigs from a tree limb, a network of roads, each one a link in the chain of the Burlington system. And Galesburg is the center; what the heart is to the blood stream.

Should you travel to Chicago via the Burlington from Paducah, Ky., from St. Louis, Mo., Omaha, Nebr., Denver, Colo., Deadwood, S. D., or Billings, Mont., you will pass through Galesburg. Each twenty-four hours here 62 passenger trains and an average of 117 freight trains.

It is at Galesburg where freight movements, great overland trains, are collected, broken up and the cars re-routed. For this work the system has at Galesburg 160 miles of track and a great "hump" switching system where cars are moved by gravity. These yards handle from 6,000 to 7,000 freight cars daily, shutting them back and forth in the work of remaking trains.

When the Burlington system wanted a plentiful supply of soft water for its boilers it built an artificial lake just out of Galesburg. That cost about $500,000. When that wasn't big enough it built another. It has a shore line eleven miles long. A country club has been developed on each lake. The road wanted a plant for rebuilding steel cars. It tossed in another $500,000 and already has plans for an enlargement of the plant this year.

The Burlington has a tie treating plant at Galesburg, said to be the largest in the world. Often a million ties will be in the yards. Each year Galesburg gives a picnic to the railroad's officials, inviting them to the city for the day—and it is its pride that it never asks anything of the officials when they come.

Galesburg is also on the main line of the Santa Fe which has a double track from Chicago to the Pacific. It is a transfer point for freight between the Burlington and Santa Fe systems.

However, do not get the impression that there is not plenty of worthwhile things other than railroads in Galesburg. They are merely the base upon which the city is built. The Rowe Manufacturing company owns a patent farm gate; output 250,000 a year. It makes ladders, 2,000,000 feet a year; a patent wall used for hurry-up corners. Much corn this year—result, two and a half miles of this cribbing wall each day, men working three 8 hour shifts.

Here also is the Pioneer Creamery Company, capitalized at $25,000 in 1902; today, $2,000,000. Its output, 6,000,000 pounds of butter a year; 600,000 dozen eggs; 500 buying stations in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Indiana.

Pancakes, too. The Navaho Milk Company, using buttermilk, by-product of the Pioneer Company, makes a powdered milk. It is now used nationally as an ingredient in "quick rising" pancake hours.

Then there's the Galesburg Horse & Mule Co. Five years ago it took over properties equipped for livestock barns. Today? An auction business, horses and mules, running $2,000,000 a year. Sellers and buyers gather here on sale days from all over the nation.

Once Galesburg had numerous brick manufacturing plants owned variously. Today they are one group, consolidated as the Burlington Brick Company. Output is 75,000,000 bricks yearly; 650 employees. The brick industry has made its imprint on Galesburg; 42½ miles of brick paving within the city limits, 20 miles of brick highway in Knox county outside the city.

Galesburg, downtown, has many solid brick blocks; farther out, good brick homes. You can tell a brick-making town by the solid look of it. Galesburg bricks go to far places.

Some went into the Panama Canal. A plant in Galesburg makes 500 brooms a day; another casket hardware running $100,000 a year. Three or four plants, recently consolidated make overalls and work clothes. Some of Galesburg's plants are old. The Frost Manufacturing Company, boilers, doing a national business, goes back to '51.

The Galesburg Malleable Castings Company makes 300 tons of malleable castings monthly. The Willis Manufacturing Company makes fireproof window frames, doors, etc., using for them up to 700 tons of steel a year. The Winslow Boiler & Engineering Company, specializing in an oil burner, output $2,000,000 a year. There are other plants.

Galesburg has five banks and four loan associations, combined assets $24,000,000. It will shortly vote on a $600,000 sewer extension project. Here is the home of the Western Illinois division of the Illinois Power & Light Company. It has just completed a $1,000,000 "high line" from Keokuk where the giant dam across the Mississippi is the source of power.

Unlimited in matter of electric power, cost low, Galesburg is developing into an electrified city. The Burlington shops are switching over from steam to electricity. Other large plants are planning to; mostly the smaller plants have already.

Galesburg has other distinctions—a city of 7,500 telephones it is to be a city without a telephone pole. Every wire is being put underground; even the wires from shortly to basement. No other city in the world, I was told, has such a plan so far.

along. Engineers come from distant cities to study the plans.

Another distinction, in Galesburg was born the first corn-planter which walks down the road of history side by side with the plow and the reaper in the work of disenslaving the world from fierce toil in the fields. It was invented and patented by George W. Brown. When he died the business died and that is that.

In its beginning, 1837, Galesburg was found by a group of idealists. They came from Oneida, N. Y., home of community evolution and social sagas. They talked of a model city, never any liquor, never vice or crime. In the old stage coach days the drivers used to warn their passengers, some rough diamonds then, not to swear or smoke or chew or spit in passing through.

The idealists began by founding Knox College. A few years later Lombard College came. And finally Galesburg became more typical of American cities. Waves of New Englanders swept it, then waves of Swedes, and Irish and Germans, finally all of Europe flocking here. Yet today, they tell me, the blonde Nordic blood predominates, predominate, perhaps 20 percent of all.

Galesburg is still stout in education. Its student enrollment is:

Knox College	639
Lombard College	561
Brown's Business College	105
St. Joseph's Academy	340
Corpus Christi Lyceum	107
High Schools	1,500
Grade Schools	3,000

That means out of a population of a little more than 28,000 that 6,250 are in its educational institutions, not counting the four conservatories of music. Of course, it is admitted that the colleges get students from the outside. But it does show what Galesburg, practical business city of the open country of Illinois, is doing to imprint its thoughts and ideas of human life on future Illinoisans.

And now for the thing that perhaps has given Galesburg more real pride than any other single thing—

Edward Bok, the famous author and editor, once picked Galesburg as one of the four American cities nearest reaching his ideal; one of the four

Dr. Cummings' Health Column

BY DR. HUGH S. CUMMING

Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service

It is recognized generally all persons before reaching adult life have been infected with tuberculosis. In the majority of cases, the germs of tuberculosis lie inactive and cause the infected person no appreciable trouble. Only when the resisting power of the body has been lowered by overwork, adverse living conditions, dissipation, influenza, etc., do the germs multiply and develop.

By noting the causes of active tuberculosis, the treatment is readily indicated. The normal resistance of the body must be restored by rational living. This is accomplished by rest, fresh air, proper diet and the immediate correction of any habits tending to lower the health of the individual.

When active pulmonary tuberculosis has developed, sanitarium treatment is the ideal. However, this is not within the reach of the many. Do not be discouraged. Tuberculosis can be cured at home, if the patient has the will power and moral courage to follow strictly his physician's directions.

It is necessary for the patient to have a correct mental attitude. He must have an intelligent understanding of the serious nature of his disease and the principle of treatment.

most desirable cities in which to live in this great nation; nearest the ideal in its opportunities for real living for men, women and children.

This is the thirty-third of a series of articles prepared by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce entitled "Rediscovering Illinois." Their purpose is to benefit, build and develop the state as a whole. The next will be published soon.

No reasonable sacrifice is too great to pay for the cure desired.

There is a widespread belief that certain climates are a cure for tuberculosis. But all authorities recognize that proper treatment is more important than climate. There is no specific climate and you can recover where you now reside, if you can recover anywhere.

Recovery depends upon yourself. With the many public tuberculosis hospitals now in existence, it is usually possible for a patient to obtain several months of sanitarium treatment. This is very desirable, in order that you may obtain the careful teaching and training of physicians and nurses, in how to conduct and regulate your life for the best results.

When you leave the sanitarium to continue your treatment at home, you will know how you must live to obtain a complete recovery. The nearer you can bring your home treatment to the sanitarium standard, the more satisfactory will be the result.

Upon returning to the home, the advice of a competent physician should be obtained, and his directions strictly followed. Your doctor should see you at least twice a week. You must select a physician in whom you have confidence and co-operate to the fullest extent.

It is essential that the tuberculosis patient have a maximum of fresh air and sunshine. The patient's room should face the south to get all the sunshine possible.

The tuberculosis patient's diet must be under the careful supervision of the physician at all times. Only plain food such as steaks, chops, roasts, fowl, fish, eggs, milk, potatoes, green vegetables, whole grains and a moderate amount of fruit should be taken. No knick-knacks, no alcohol, and no excesses in feeding should be allowed.

The patient should strictly avoid any articles of diet, which he knows by previous experience to be detrimental. Too much food may be as harmful as too little. It is not necessary to get fat to cure tuberculosis. Excessive quantities of food produce digestive disturbances, harmful to the patient. Regularity of meals is essential and they should be at least five hours apart.

While the patient should remain in the open air as much as possible, he must be comfortable. He must have adequate protection of the body to keep him warm. In winter he should wear loose fitting woolen garments and socks. There should be double mattresses on the bed or woolen blankets next to the spring. There should be as much protection under the patient as over him. Ear muffs, night caps, and sweaters add to the comfort and protection of the patient when required, especially for outdoor life.

Adequate rest in a reclining position in the open air is essential. This should be continued until the fever has disappeared for at least a month. As your condition improves and under the guidance of your physician, exercise may be started. At first only two or three minutes a day.

The temperature and pulse are the best indications of the toleration of exercise. Under no circumstances should exercise be pushed to the point of fatigue. Keep in mind that many tuberculous patients are killed by over-exercise.

Long before a patient can be declared an arrested case, he will have lost all symptoms, and feel entirely well. This is a dangerous period. A patient feeling well may over-exert himself, bringing on a fatal hemorrhage or a relapse.

Illinois Universities

Produces Many Teachers

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Colleges of Illinois produced 3,975 public school teachers in the year ending June 30, 1925.

That number obtained teachers

certificates on their certified college credits. It represents a decided jump from the 2,724 issued on credits last year, and the 1,768 in 1921. It means that more teachers are going to college to prepare for school teaching and are depending on college credits to get them a position, instead of taking the teachers examinations held in each county.

The 3,975 certificates this year was 64 per cent of the total certificates issued. The rest, 36 per cent of the teachers took county examinations.

University of Illinois produced the most teachers, 555; University of Chicago, 30; Western Illinois State Teachers College, 494; Illinois State Normal University, 484; Augustana College, 121; Aurora College, 33; Bradley Polytechnic, 77; Eastern Illinois State Teachers College, 165; Illinois Wesleyan, 89; Illinois College, 69; Illinois Woman's College, 74; Millikin University, 87; Joliet Junior College, 20; Knox College, 59; Lincoln College, 48; Lombard College, 29; Monmouth College, 64; Northwestern University, 108; Rockford College, 36 and Southern Illinois State Normal University 400.

ANNUAL REPORT OGLE CO. FARM ADVISER GIVEN

The Ogle County Farm Adviser's report for the year ending Nov. 31, 1925 gives a brief synopsis of the many projects conducted during the year and some definite results accomplished by them.

The County was organized by communities, each with its local leaders for carrying out the projects selected by each group. Fifty-eight local leaders assisted in directing the project work in thirteen communities of the county.

Twenty-five community meetings were held with a total attendance of 3255. With 53 demonstration meetings, 42 leaders meetings and 17 miscellaneous meetings; there was a total of 167 meetings held through which Farm Bureau service reached a total attendance of 7839.

Hog sanitation demonstrations were carried on with the assistance of 10 cooperators who exhibited on their farms the results of the sanitation system of raising pigs. Great profits were realized by all of these farmers because of the use of this system.

The improvement of corn by seed selection was demonstrated by definite results obtained on 26 farms where plots were planted with selected seed to compare with the ordinary seed. It was shown that one bushel of selected seed corn would produce an increased yield sufficient to pay a year's dues in the County Farm Bureau, Illinois Agricultural Association and American Farm Bureau Federation.

Estimates made by leaders in the limestone and legumes project showed that the yearly use of limestone had increased 100 percent, of alfalfa 50 percent and of sweet clover 25 percent from a year ago.

Other projects upon which results were reported are: farm accounting, poultry management, orchard management, boys and girls club work, hog vaccination, live stock marketing, county fair exhibit, county picnic, T. B. eradication, "The Ogle County Farmer", cow testing association, purchasing supplies, limestone, phosphate and seeds, insect control, Farmers' Institute, farm visits, and administration.

The National Tuberculosis Association

tion and its affiliated state and local organizations are financed almost entirely through the annual sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals. Thus the public is enabled to support a movement designed solely to promote its health and welfare.

INSTITUTIONS. The minimum institutional requirement for tuberculosis is one bed for every annual death. This means the United States needs at least 104,000 beds. There are about 799 sanatoria and hospitals with over 66,000 beds for tuberculosis patients in the United States. In 1904 there were only 100 hospitals and sanatoria with about 10,000 beds.

NURSES At least one general public health nurse is necessary to care for 3,000 persons. It is impossible to separate tuberculosis from a general health program, but nurses trained in tuberculosis work are necessary, as well as the general public health nurses. It has been estimated that there are over 3,500 specially trained tuberculosis nurses and several thousand others who are doing tuberculosis work in the United States.

RE-DISCOVERING ILLINOIS

Illinois Chamber of Commerce

We come to Galesburg. There is a familiar trade name, branding a hillroad, the "Burlington Route." Had those who burned that name deep in the nation's industry foreseen clearly—that system, doubtlessly to-day would be called the "Galesburg Route" instead. To the glory of an Illinois city!

Galesburg is the hub of the Burlington and the railroad, by all odds, is the most important industrial unit in Galesburg. But Galesburg has other things—

When you start out to know your Illinois you must learn of the educational institutions, the manufacturing plants and all the other factors which have built up a city of 28,207 persons on the very ridge of that broad uplift between the Illinois and Mississippi rivers. But, first of all, it's a story of railroads; transportation.

The Burlington road radiates in six directions from Galesburg. From these lines tracks branch off, like twigs from a tree limb, a network in varying eleven states. And Galesburg is the center; what the heart is to the blood stream.

Should you travel to Chicago via the Burlington from Paducah, Ky., from St. Louis, Mo., Omaha, Neb., Denver, Colo., Deadwood, S. D., or Billings, Mont., you will pass through Galesburg. Each twenty-four hours here 62 passenger trains and an average of 117 freight trains.

It is at Galesburg where freight movements, great overland trains, are collected, broken up and the cars re-routed. For this work the system has at Galesburg 150 miles of track and a great "hump" switching system where cars are moved by gravity. These yards handle from 6,000 to 7,000 freight cars daily, shutting them back and forth in the work of remaking trains.

When the Burlington system wanted a plentiful supply of soft water for its boilers it built an artificial lake just out of Galesburg. That cost about $500,000. When that wasn't big enough it built another. It has a shore line eleven miles long. A country club has been developed on each lake. The road wanted a plant for rebuilding steel cars. It tossed in another $500,000 and already has plans for an enlargement of the plant this year.

The Burlington has a tie treating plant at Galesburg, said to be the largest in the world. Often a million ties will be in the yards. Each year Galesburg gives a picnic to the railroad's officials, inviting them to the city for the day—and it is its pride that it never asks anything of the officials when they come.

Galesburg is also on the main line of the Santa Fe which has a double track from Chicago to the Pacific. It is a transfer point for freight between the Burlington and Santa Fe systems.

However, do not get the impression that there is not plenty of worth-while things other than railroads in Galesburg. They are merely the base upon which the city is built. The Howe Manufacturing company owns a patent farm gate; output 250,000 a year. It makes ladders, 2,000,000 feet a year; a patent wall used for hurry-up corncribs. Much corn this year—result, two and a half miles of this cribbing wall each day, men working three 8 hour shifts.

Here also is the Pioneer Creamery Company, capitalized at $25,000, in 1902; today, $2,000,000. Its output, 5,000,000 pounds of butter a year; 500,000 dozen eggs; 500 buying stations in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Indiana.

Pancakes, too. The Navaho Milk Company, using buttermilk, by-product of the Pioneer Company, makes a powdered milk. It is now used nationally as an ingredient in "quick rising" pancake flours.

Then there's the Galesburg Horse & Mule Co. Five years ago it took over properties equipped for livestock barns. Today? An auction business, horses and mules, running $2,000,000 a year. Sellers and buyers gather here on sale days from all over the nation.

Once Galesburg had numerous brick manufacturing plants owned variously. Today they are one group: consolidated as the Burlington Paving Brick Company. Output is 75,000,000 bricks yearly; 650 employees. The brick industry has made its imprint on Galesburg; 42½ miles of brick paving within the city limits, 20 miles of brick highway in Knox county outside the city.

Galesburg, downtown, has many solid brick blocks; farther out, good brick homes. You can tell a brick-making town by the solid look of it. Galesburg bricks go to far places. Some went into the Panama Canal.

A plant in Galesburg makes 500 brooms a day; another casket hardware running $100,000 a year. Three or four plants, recently consolidated make overalls and work clothes. Some of Galesburg's plants are old. The Frost Manufacturing Company, boilers, doing a national business, goes back to '61.

The Galesburg Malleable Castings Company makes 300 tons of malleable castings monthly. The Willis Manufacturing Company makes fireproof window frames, doors, etc., using for them up to 700 tons of steel a year. The Winslow Boiler & Engineering Company, specializing in an oil burner, output $2,000,000 a year. There are other plants.

Galesburg has five banks and four loan associations, combined assets $24,000,000. It will shortly vote on a $600,000 sewer extension project. Here is the home of the Western Illinois division of the Illinois Power & Light Company. It has just completed a $1,000,000 "high line" from Keokuk where the giant dam across the Mississippi is the source of power.

Unlimited in matter of electric power, cost low, Galesburg is developing into an electrified city. The Burlington shops are switching over from steam. Other large plants are planning to, mostly the smaller plants have already.

Galesburg has other distinctions—a city of 7,500 telephones it is to be a city without a telephone pole. Every wire is being put underground; even the wires from alley to basement. No other city in the world, I was told, has such a plan so far.

along. Engineers come from distant cities to study the plans.

Another distinction, in Galesburg was born the first corn-planter which walks down the road of history side by side with the plow and the reaper in the work of disengaging the world from fierce toil in the fields. It was invented and patented by George W. Brown. When he died the business died and that is that.

In its beginning, 1837, Galesburg was found by a group of idealists. They came from Oneida, N. Y., home of community evolution and social sugars. They talked of a model city, never any liquor, never vice or crime. In the old stage coach days the drivers used to warn their passengers, some rough diamonds then, not to swear or smoke or chew or spit in passing through.

The idealists began by founding Knox College. A few years later Lombard College came. And finally Galesburg became more typical of American cities. Waves of New Englanders swept it, then waves of Swedes, and Irish and Germans, finally all of Europe flocking here. Yet today, they tell me, the blonde Nordics from Scandinavia predominate, perhaps 20 percent of all.

Galesburg is still stout in education. Its student enrollment is:

Knox College	639
Lombard College	561
Brown's Business College	105
St. Joseph's Academy	340
Corpus Christi Lyceum	107
High Schools	1,500
Grade Schools	3,000

That means out of a population of a little more than 28,000 that 6,359 are in its educational institutions, not counting the four conservatories of music. Of course, it is admitted that the colleges get students from the outside. But it does show what Galesburg, practical business city of the open country of Illinois, is doing to imprint its thoughts and ideas of human life on future Illinoisans.

And now for the thing that perhaps has given Galesburg more real pride than any other single thing—

Edward Bok, the famous author and editor, once picked Galesburg as one of the four American cities nearest reaching his ideal; one of the four

Dr. Cummings' Health Column

BY DR. HUGH S. CUMMINGS

Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service

It is recognized generally all persons before reaching adult life have been infected with tuberculosis. In the majority of cases, the germs of tuberculosis lie inactive and cause the infected person no appreciable trouble. Only when the resisting power of the body has been lowered by overwork, adverse living conditions, dissipation, influenza, etc., do the germs multiply and develop.

By noting the causes of active tuberculosis, the treatment is readily indicated. The normal resistance of the body must be restored by rational living. This is accomplished, by rest, fresh air, proper diet and the immediate correction of any habits tending to lower the health of the individual.

When active pulmonary tuberculosis has developed, sanitarium treatment is the ideal. However, this is not within the reach of the many. By not being discouraged, tuberculosis can be cured at home, if the patient has the will power and moral courage to follow strictly his physician's directions.

It is necessary for the patient to have a correct mental attitude. He must have an intelligent understanding of the serious nature of his disease and the principle of treatment.

most desirable cities in which to live in this great nation; nearest the ideal in its opportunities for real living for men, women and children.

(This is the thirty-third of a series of articles prepared by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce entitled "Rediscovering Illinois." Their purpose is to benefit, build and develop the state as a whole. The next will be published soon.)

No reasonable sacrifice is too great to pay for the cure desired.

There is a widespread belief that certain climates are a cure for tuberculosis. But all authorities recognize that proper treatment is more important than climate. There is no specific climate and you can recover where you now reside, if you can recover anywhere.

Recovery depends upon yourself. With the many public tuberculosis hospitals now in existence, it is usually possible for a patient to obtain several months of sanitarium treatment. This is very desirable. In order that you may obtain the careful teaching and training of physicians and nurses, in how to conduct and regulate your life for the best results.

When you leave the sanitarium to continue your treatment at home, you will know how you must live to obtain a complete recovery. The nearer you can bring your home treatment to the sanitarium standard, the more satisfactory will be the results.

Upon returning to the home, the advice of a competent physician should be obtained, and his directions strictly followed. Your doctor should see you at least twice a week. You must select a physician in whom you have confidence and co-operate to the fullest extent.

It is essential that the tuberculosis

patient have a maximum of fresh air and sunshine. The patient's room should face the south to get all the sunshine possible.

The tuberculosis patient's diet must be under the careful supervision of the physician at all times. Only plain food such as steaks, chops, roasts, fowl, fish, eggs, milk, potatoes, green vegetables, whole grains and a moderate amount of fruit should be taken. No knick-knacks, no alcohol, and no excesses in feeding should be allowed.

The patient should strictly avoid any articles of diet which he knows by previous experience to be detrimental. Too much food may be as harmful as too little. It is not necessary to get fat to cure tuberculosis. Excessive quantities of food produce digestive disturbances, harmful to the patient. Regularity of meals is essential and they should be at least five hours apart.

While the patient should remain in the open air as much as possible, he must be comfortable. He must have adequate protection of the body to keep him warm. In winter he should wear loose fitting woolen garments and socks. There should be double mattresses on the bed or woolen blankets next to the spring. There should be as much protection under the patient as over him. Ear muffs, night caps, and sweaters add to the comfort and protection of the patient when required, especially for outdoor life.

Adequate rest in a reclining position in the open air is essential. This should be continued until the fever has disappeared for at least a month. As your condition improves and under the guidance of your physician, exercise may be started. At first only two or three minutes a day.

The temperature and pulse are the best indications of the toleration of exercise. Under no circumstances should exercise be pushed to the point of fatigue. Keep in mind that many tuberculous patients are killed by over-exercise.

Long before a patient can be declared an arrested case, he will have lost all symptoms, and feel entirely well. This is a dangerous period. A patient feeling well may over-exert himself, bringing on a fatal hemorrhage or a relapse.

Illinois Universities

Produces Many Teachers

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Colleges of Illinois produced 3,975 public school teachers in the year ending June 30, 1925.

That number obtained teachers

certificates on their certified college credits. It represents a decided jump from the 2,724 issued on credits last year, and the 1,768 in 1921. It means that more teachers are going to college to prepare for school teaching and are depending on college credits to get them a position, instead of taking the teachers examinations held in each county.

The 3,975 certificates this year was 64 per cent of the total certificates issued. The rest, 36 per cent of the teachers took county examinations.

University of Illinois produced the most teachers, 555; University of Chicago, 90; Western Illinois State Teachers College, 494; Illinois State Normal University, 484; Augustana College, 121; Aurora College, 3; Bradley Polytechnic, 77; Eastern Illinois State Teachers College, 165; Illinois Wesleyan, 85; Illinois College, 69; Illinois Woman's College, 74; Millikin University, 97; Joliet Junior College, 20; Knox College, 59; Lincoln College, 48; Lombard College, 29; Monmouth College, 64; Northwestern University, 108; Rockford College, 36 and Southern Illinois State Normal University 400.

Says Pro Football is Too Mechanical to Live

Moline, Ill., Dec. 16—(AP)—Professional football will not replace college games because the professional sport is too mechanical and not sufficiently enthusiastic, declared Kenneth L. Wilson, director of athletics at Northwestern University, in an address here last night.

Wilson said Harold "Red" Grange is to be pitied because he is being overworked and has for the time being forfeited his diploma.

"I have had no quarrel with professional football," he stated, "but I do not like its promoters."

The Northwestern director defended college football, contending that spectators as well as players are taught courage, loyalty and fair play by the sport.

Joie Ray, Runner, May Take Up Boxing Vocation

Chicago, Dec. 16—(AP)—Joie Ray, Illinois A. C. middle distance track star, sharer of the world's indoor mile record or 4:12 with Paavo Nurmi, is undecided as to whether he will ever compete again.

Several times Ray has been on the point of hanging up his spikes and entering the boxing ring. Once last fall he announced a race in which he would be his last. Now he is employed in the radio department of a downtown Chicago store, a position that he cannot hold and do much training.

Illinois A. C. officials say he is as good as ever and they hope to obtain his entry in the club's eighth annual handicap track meet January 29. Ray has until January 22, to make up his mind.

James E. Knapp, chairman of the Columbia University football committee, presented letters to the football players yesterday and commended them for their good showing. He failed to mention the coaching situation.

The Boston Braves will take south on the spring training trip what will probably be the largest aggregation of players ever brought from the north by a big league club. Seventy men including many regulars and recruits from the Providence club, controlled by the Boston management, will make the trip.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association at a conference at New President Johnson of the American League has agreed to donate a bronze trophy to stimulate interest in baseball in Mexico. The trophy will be played for next season by two teams. Johnson has named some 20 amateur teams, first organized a similar cup to President Obregon to be competed for.

Seek Obscure Bootlegger for Battling Siki's End

New York, Dec. 16—(AP)—An obscure bootlegger, seeking blood payment for a small debt, is sought today as the man who shot Battling Siki yesterday, ending the garish career of the Senegalese "wild man" of the prize ring.

Police are seeking the bootlegger as his murderer because Siki's wife told them her husband was threatened by a man trying to collect a $20 liquor debt a few days ago.

STRANGE "GOOD-BYES"

London—In various countries the convention of saying "good-bye" is carried out in different and often unique ways. The parting etiquette in the South Sea Islands is to grasp and shake vigorously one another's necklaces. With the Fijians, saying "good-bye" is quite a ceremony. Men and women carry red feathers which they produce before parting and place in the form of a cross. The significance of this is that, although they must tear themselves away from each other's presence, their paths having once crossed, their hearts will forever be in union.

Coolidge Interested in Economy of Human Life

Chicago—(AP)—President Coolidge is interested in economy of human life as well as economy in government. It is revealed in a recent letter he wrote to Dr. Franklin Martin, president of the Gorgas Memorial Institute here.

"Human misery and the enormous economic loss caused by preventable illness are matters of serious moment to every individual," the president's letter states. "The Gorgas Memorial plan to conserve this needless waste of human resources is commendatory and deserving of the support of all thinking people. I am glad to know of the encouraging progress of the Gorgas Memorial program.

The institute, of which President Coolidge is the honorary president, was founded to perpetuate the aggressive health ideas of General W. C. Gorgas, the conqueror of yellow fever at Panama.

Designating 1926 as "Health Conservation Year," the institute will carry its war especially against the malaria mosquitoes of the south.

The institute estimates that preventable illness and premature death in the United States causes an annual economic loss of $1,500,000,000.

CONQUEROR OF THE MONGOLIAN WILDS

Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, who startled the world a few years ago by discovering a nest of dinosaur eggs ten million years old, arrived in New York on November 9th from his Third Asiatic Expedition under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History.

Again he attributes much of the success of his expedition to the astounding performance of his five Dodge Brothers Motor Cars.

Following is a direct quotation from an official statement by Dr. Andrews upon his return to America:

The Gobi Desert in Mongolia is the most extensive undeveloped and unexplored region now left in the world. Until a few years ago it was retarded by the impossibly slow traffic of camel trains, the only means of communication.

But now it is being crisscrossed in every direction by motor cars, or, more correctly by one motor car, the Dodge. Sixty or seventy Dodge Brothers cars are making regular trips far into the interior of this vast waste, bringing out loads of furs, precious furs, wool and other products.

No other car except the Dodge is found there because we have tried it out on each of our three expeditions and have had it demonstrated to our satisfaction that the Dodge is the only car that will stand up under the strain of the roadless desert and do everything we ask of it.

Few people have occasion to subject their motor cars to punishment of this severity. It is reassuring, however, to know that in emergencies Dodge Brothers Motor Car is built to meet the test.

These dependable and sturdy qualities also account for the fact that more than 90% of all the motor cars Dodge Brothers have built during the past eleven years, are still in active service.

CHAPTER XVIII—Continued

Connemara never knew how long he stood immobile, scarcely daring to draw a breath, crucified against the wall. It seemed untold ages, but it was probably only about thirty seconds before she came to her senses and realized what had really happened. The opening of the door had created a draft from the open windows in her room and that draft had merely slammed the door shut with a bang. What an idiot she had been not to close it quietly behind her! In spite of the explanation, she remained quite still, counting her heart beats, and waiting for Salt, Bing, Mr. Brewster, Aunt Celina, and Sweetie to emerge from their respective bedrooms.

To her amazement, no one came out to join her. The violent slamming of a door, closed by the wind, is not a half-heard sound, arousing breath-held speculation. Like the elevated trains that rattle by open tenement windows, it is so familiar that it often fails to arouse a near-sleeper. That is what had happened in this case, and even if Salt and Bing had heard the crash, philosophic slowness would tell them the same door cannot slam shut twice. The burglar, or marauder, or worse, she had heard below would naturally reason along the same lines—namely, that there was nothing to worry about in the mere slamming of a door.

Connemara realized that in silence—absolute silence—lay her one chance. She strove to still her heart beats and the infinitesimal rustling caused by the strained rise and fall of her agitated breast. She knew

She stepped forward and launched herself at Sweetie.

It was a game of sheer patience. If she could keep still long enough, the marauder, becoming reassured, would take heart from the fact that the inmates of the house were such sound or callous sleepers, and would presently proceed with whatever he had been doing.

Waiting became an agony, for she did not dare even to lower her arms, but in the end she had her reward. Someone was certainly moving about in the great hallway below—someone who had to make sure of his ground by much groping before each stealthy step. Connemara had read somewhere that only the swift are silent. Transforming the thought into action, she stepped boldly forward, laid her hand surely on the banister and passed swiftly down the stairs.

At her foot she halted. In spite of a pale shaft of light through one pane of the variegated fanlight, she could discern nothing in the black shadows on either side. But in that tense moment she learned that there are more than five senses. As surely as if she could see or feel it, she knew that a living, breathing body was crouched within ten feet of her nose. Again came the call to her nerves for utter quiet. Steadying herself against the newel post, she stood rigidly, her ears alert, her thin nostrils distended.

While she held her body under absolute control, she could not keep her mind from leaping into frenzied action. Her brain began to hum like a racing engine. What should she do? Ought she to scream? What if, when people rushed down and turned on a blaze of light, they should find her in a mackintosh, a nightgown, and pink bare feet, face to face with Bing or Salt in their B. V. D.'s?—for she knew they had bought no pajamas. Suddenly her brain stopped racing and began to hum normally. She turned deadly calm. Her nostrils opened and closed, opened and closed. She had smelt a faint, familiar odor which could not have come from Salt, nor Bing, nor Lacy, nor Pooch, nor McTish—least of all from Aunt Celina. It was the smell of face powder—cheap face powder.

Her thoughts turned to Sweetie, the guttersnipe whom she had befriended against all reason, and just as she did so her eyes perceived a small head silhouetted against the one live pane of the fanlight. Never had she seen a poise more packed with malevolence. It was like a cobra's head, rearing to strike.

But why this sudden and inexplicable change in Sweetie? And then, hard on the wonder, came a flash of illumination. The lost fifty thousand dollars! It was Sweetie who had removed the money from the hole Bugle had dug last night on the beach. Sweetie admitted that she had followed Lacy from the Filomena along the shore. It was not only possible, then, but probable that she had witnessed Connemara's impulsive act in burying the money.

From the level of the unseen shoulders two clawlike hands crept up into the light. They were quivering, evil, eager, as if already they were savoring the feel of the soft throat of an enemy. So it was to be woman to woman, thought Connemara grimly.

However, she did not wait to be attacked. Taking advantage of the momentary spotlight, she stepped forward and launched herself at Sweetie. She had hoped to pinion the girl's arms and at the same time carry her by sheer weight and the impetus of the onslaught to the floor, where she could gag her with a tassel and bind her with a rope from one of the old-fashioned portieres. But she had counted out her chicken before it had begun to hatch. From the beginning, and especially when decked out in David's nattiest yachting clothes, Sweetie had seemed a pitifully frail figure, threatened with consumption. What, then, was Connemara's amazement to find she had embraced a whirling roll of barbed wire!

Quite aside from knowing even more ways of fighting than Connemara's eyes had sampled since the moment of leaving the Bayville ferry—how many years ago!—Sweetie brought into play a quiver full of poisoned darts in the form of a string of whispered epithets and exclamations so outrageously stupefying that as each one hit her ears Connemara could not help but wince with horror and stop to gasp, "Oh!"

This supersensitiveness all but cost her the battle, but fortunately for her, as the writhing bodies of the two girls twisted and turned up and down the length of the slippery runner rug which led to the front doorway, weight began to tell. Sweetie soon found she could waste none of her breath if she was to overcome or even to escape from her adversary. At no stage of the game had she refrained from using her teeth and nails, and now fury made her redoubtable efforts. Such dirty tactics would long since have given her the victory had it not been for the chance which had led Connemara to put on the flexible armor plate of a heavy mackintosh rather than a flimsy kimono.

More than once she had reason to send up a breathless vow of thanks to the Providence which had guided her choice. She could feel sharp teeth sinking into her shoulder, pressing viciously, and then coming to a stop just short of pain or even a pinch. They warned her, however, to hold her adversary in an unbroken clinch if she would avoid losing a thumb or an ear.

Staggering with exhaustion the squirming mass of arms and legs had just reached the further end of the hall when it toppled and fell with Connemara on top. In all her life she had never known such an overwhelming surge of triumph. At last she had her enemy down. The Swede's gang would never see that money now. She planted her knees on Sweetie's chest, and clutching her wrists, strove to bring them together so that she might hold them for an instant with one hand while she reached for a portiere cord with the other.

"You pink-headed wart!" snarled Sweetie gaspingly. "You big red cow!"

FIGHTING NEAR MUDKEN WILL BE STOPPED BY JAPS

Will Permit no Battle Within Six Miles of Manchuria Seat

Tokio, Dec. 16—(AP)—Government spokesmen today stated that troops had left Korea for Mukden, Manchuria's capital, and that more forces would leave tomorrow, after which fighting would not be permitted within six miles of the capital.

It was stated that both Marshal Chang Tso Lin, dictator of Manchuria, and General Kuo Sung Lin, his former henchman and now his principal adversary in the factional fighting would be notified by the Japanese that this order must be obeyed. It was also stated by the government spokesmen that all consuls met recently in Mukden and requested that Japan take all necessary steps to protect foreigners there.

It was explained that the treaty of Portsmouth (the peace treaty between Russia and Japan at the end of the Russo-Japanese war) allows Japan to maintain approximately 15,000 railway guards in Manchuria but

Women who 'Tend Fires

Like "Quick Fire Coke" Because it is Lighter to Handle, Cleaner—Fewer Ashes to Carry Out.

Coke is the cleanest of all fuels to handle and makes the best fire. There is no smoke, soot or gas to fill the house with dust and dirt when coke is burned. We speak of by-product coke for fuel purposes in preference to any other "QUICK FIRE COKE" manufactured by the Indiana Coke and Gas Company, Terre Haute, Indiana, stands at the head for uniform high quality and economy.

For household fuel purposes it should be selected because it is superior in all tests. This company has just issued an interesting pamphlet on the "Uses of Coke and How to Burn It." The book is instructive and will make any householder a substantial saving on his fuel bill if he follows its suggestions. It is sent to any address on request free of charge.

Always insist upon having "QUICK FIRE COKE" delivered to you. It costs your dealer no more than others and none other is so good. "QUICK FIRE COKE" is made according to our own special formula perfected after years of careful experiment and actual testing in heating homes of various kinds in all kinds of weather. No other coke will give you the uniform heat, lasting fire, cleanliness, freedom from dust and small particles and save you the money on your fuel bill. If your dealer does not supply you with the genuine "QUICK FIRE COKE," take no other, for none other is so good. Just write us immediately and we will tell you how to get the genuine "QUICK FIRE COKE" and save from a quarter to a half of your usual winter's fuel bill and avoid all dirt, smoke, soot and danger from poisonous fumes.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

that the recent replacements of troops make the total Japanese troops in Manchuria only about 8,000. The Japanese foreign office understands that Chang's mercenary troops are near revolt and that numerous cases of looting have been reported. Stringent measures are deemed necessary to prevent loss of lives and property among the foreign nationals. Foreign office advices state that Chmang has removed most of the arms and munitions from the arsenal
